HIS RELATIONS WITH GEN. DI CESNOLA. THE CESNOLA COLLECTION IN LONDON AND IN

NEW-YORK-SOME CHAYGES POINTED OUT. Mr. Fenardent was placed on the stand yesterday in the United States Circuit Court, when the Penardent-di Cesnota libel case was resutaed. The court-room became pretty well filled during the morning session. General McClellan came in and greeted Messre.
Prime and di Cesnola, and during a portion of the proceedings L. E. Chittenden sat at the table about which were grouped Messrs, Choate, Stickney, Allen, Evarts and were grouped Messis, Choate, Charles, Sales, General di Cesnola from the time of the beginning of negotiations in regard to the London exhibition of the Cesnola collection down to the time of the publication of The Art Amaleur article in August, 1880. He said tion of The Art Amaleur article in August, 1880. He can in substance;

I was born in France and am forty years of age. I am a dealer and importer of antiquities. In 1866 I established in London a branch of the Paris house of Ballin & Fennrdent. I had some acquaintance with Cypriote antiquities in Parls. In London, I attended anction sales and made some purchases for the British Museum. I met General di Cesnola on September 20, 1872. The collection had been received in six different consistances. The last reached London in June. In August the collection was all unpacked and put on exhibition in my rooms in Great Russell-st. The statuary was in good order, but the vases were very much broken from had packing. The heads and bodies of statues were in many cases separated, but numbered to correspond. The heads were placed in pesition, but no centent was used until General di Cesnola's arrival. Some of the heads did not fit, and I wrote to my failter, in consequence, advising him not to buy the collection. General di Cesnola wished at first to sell everything at anction. But I advised him not to do this. Then he desired to give the British Museum an oppertunity to make a selection, and to sell the rest. Subsequently he received news from America y hich led him to change his mind. Then he would not sell the collection except as a whole. I issued cards to dealers and others in November, and the result was that a procession of people inspected the Cypriote antiquities.

PURCHASE OF THE COLLECTION. I received information in July that the Americans pro-posed to buy the collection. In August I learned that a committee had been appointed. On September 2 I recommittee had been appointed. On September 2 celved a letter from General di Cesnola saying that a subscription to purchase had been started in New-York and that it reached the sum of $45,000. When General di Cesnola came to see me in London he asked me to make the collection appear as numerous as possible, as the Americans estimated rather by quantity than quality. I received a letter dated October 9 apprising me of a visit from General di Cesnola with Mr. Blodgett. A gentleman came with him and was introduced as Mr. Blodgett. I constantly heard of the American negotiations from General di Cesnola. On November 7 I wrote to my father that a proposition of purchase had been made by the Americans, and a telegram was subsequently shown to me by General di Cesnola offering £19,000. I do not remember the signature or to whom it was addressed. I advised General di Cesnola to accept. He wanted a room in the British Museum with his name, and at his request i went to Mr. Newton with the telegram and offered him credit if he would parchase. He refused. This was in the second was issued at the end of October. The exhibition at my rooms was curralled in consequence of the sale of the collection, and I sent a note to the papers to that effect. At this point extracts from articles in The London Athenarus of November 16 and December 21 were read by Mr. Bangs. The first expressed an editorial regret that the collection was to leave London, and the second was a communication, signed "F. S. A." contending that the regret was expressed in terms that were too strong. The attuess resumed :

regret was expressed in terms that were too stoody. The vittless resumed:

The exhibition closed December 24. General di Cesmola sent the collection to New York. He sent everything that had been in my possession. He took the inventory sent by him from Cyprus and checked off each object. White the collection was with me I noticed that restorations had been made, by comparing photographs taken in Cyprus with the originals before me. I noticed in No. 23, the Bearded Venus, that originally the object had been without the feet and base, and a part of the bird. I asked General di Cesmola about this restoration and others, and he said they had been made to inferest tourists in the statues, and to make them look as they did in ancient times. There was no soil on No. 157, statuette of Venus, when in London. On some others there were deposits, in many cases very thick. In other cases the stone was clear, and the color on eyes and lips could be seen. There were several Cyprus photographs, showing statues with noses which had none when they came into my possession. In No. 22 the right forcarm was added in London. I had said to General di Cesmola that it was a pity that the statue was not complete, and he had added that only Phidias could complete it. My clerk, Whelan, said that he could do in five minutes. General di Cesmola told tim to do it; and he had did Cesmola told tim to do it; and he had did Cesmola told tim to do it; and he had did control told tim Philais could do in five minutes. General di Cesnela teld kim be could do in five minutes. General di Cesnela teld kim to do it; and he did it. The hand was there attached by a dowel the size of a pencil.

ACCOUNTS WITH GENERAL DI CESNOLA, Mr. Fenardent produced an account-book in which appeared an account of his dealings with General di Cesnola. This showed that advances had been made the nola. This showed that advances made on account of the collection arounding to £1,424, and that this sum had been repaid. In regard to the payment, the witness said:

I was paid by a check for the £2,800 that had been given (femeral d) Cesnola by Mr. Morgan, the bunker. This was delivered to my bankers, Frederick Bird & Co., and £1,400 was placed to my credit. (General d) Cesnola took some cash, and with the remainder of the other sum of £1,400 opened an account of his own. He shad asked me to make out a statement showing that I was in his debt to double the actual amount, and gave as his reason that the purchasers of the collection had agreed to pay my claims and the remainder of the purchase money at a subsequent time. In the was suggested he would secure some money, which he happened to need, sooner than otherwise he would. He said he would suffer deterioration in the estimation of the American gentlemen if he should reveal the fact that he was short of funds. I came to New-York in 1876. I have had one transaction with the Museum. That concerned the King collection of engaryed gems, involving $6,000. There were some negotiations in regard to a collection of terra cotta figurines; but these came to nothing. I went to the Museum building in June, 1879, with officials from the Treasury in Wassington, who wished to learn something in regard to antiquities for the purpose of levying duties. I saw the attainct to $0.157. It had been scraped, and on the left side appeared a prominent disc. The surrounding surface was dump. At the time I saw it, it lay on a table in the main half. General di Cesnola said to me one day that he would at some time prove to me that the was prepared to prove, that and he said yes, and jointed to the mirror. When the Museum was opened in March, 1880, the statuctte, including the mirror, was of one color. On the previous occasion the mirror was darker than the rest, it looked like plaster, treated with a wash of Cyprus stone dust and rolls. It was the earl of the left leg and nothing of th latter and disbursements made on account of the collection arounting to £1,424, and that this sum had

REPAIR OF FRAGMENTS. Mr. Feuardent was proceeding to testify concerning statues Nos. 2, 4, 14 and 213, when Mr. Choate said that these were not included in the plendings. Mr. Choate said he would be glad to know whether the other side claimed that the repairing of fragments in such a way as

said he would be glad to know whether the other side claimed that the repairing of fragments in such a way as not to be perceived by the untrained eye was franding, and whether the Court would so charge the jury. After much argument on the part of Messrs, Choact and Bang, the Court decided that the plaintiff had not charged that the defendants did an interpoper thing in joining framework of the decided that the plaintiff had not charged that the defendants did an interpoper thing in joining framework of the decided that the plaintiff had not charged that the defendants did an interpoper thing in joining framework of the decided that the plaintiff had not charged that the defendants did an interpoper thing in joining framework of the decided that the plaintiff had not charged that the defendants did a line of the decided of the decided that the plaintiff had not charged that the decided of the and individually liable for acts such as the complaint charges, would extail a dangerous responsibility that few would be willing to assume. No individual liability at-taches to the trustees for the acts imputed to them by the plaintiff. TUESDAY, Nov. 20-F. M. The dealings of to-day's stock market are recorded as 230,300 shares, and include 63 different stocks, yet there was no day in the summers of 1877 and 1878 (when the transactions, in one-third of the number of issues, were down to 30,000 and 40,000 shares) when the apparent dulness was so oppressive and fatiguing as it was to-day. The market opened, so far as prices are concerned, much the same as it closed last evening, and in some instances there were further small improvements recorded. With some of the room traders " great expectations" were based upon the action of the meeting of the preferred stockholders of the Northern-Pacific Railroad Company relative to the authorization of the $20,000,000 second mortgage bond issue. The TRIBUNE remarked at the time the scheme was first proposed that there was no question about the authorization of the issue; the company is already in debt for the major part of the anticipated receipts from the proposed new issue, and the stockholders had only "Hobson's choice" in the matter; the debt exists—shall it or shall it not be funded ? was the question propounded. Of course the verdict was almost an unanimous Aye! In the early dealings Oregon and Transcontinental rose from 491s to 5034 and it closed at 491s. Northern Pacific preferred rose from 67 to 6714, and it closed at 6512. The other special features of the day were the late weakness developed, on small sales, in St. Paul, Northwestern, Lake Shore, Central and Hudson, Wainsh preferred, and Union Pacific. Delaware, Lackawanna and Western attracted less than the usual attention, but it early advanced 1g to 1187s and closed at 118. The market closed almost invariably lower than it did last night, but without an indication of what to-morrow's market may position to sell Louisiana consols on short sellers' options, which may mean short sales or sales of bonds to arrive from New-Orleans.

The business in railroad bonds, while covering a fair number of issues, was of a negative rather than a positive character. The changes in figures generally were small, but there were more declines than advances. Erie second consols were 12 higher at 9634, and Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg 5s rose 1 per cent to 7014. Chesapeake and Ohio firsts, series B, were off 58 at 9778. Canada Southern first 5s were barely steady at 9712. West Shore and Buffalo first 5s were off 1s at 86, but Chicago, Burlington and and Quincy debenture 5s were unusually active, and closed at 93-an advance of 1 per cent-and Northwestern debenture 5s were steady at 93. New-York, Chicago and St. Louis first 6s were firm at 10234@10278. Virginia Midland incomes rose 112 to 65. St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba consols were largely traded in at 101, and Omaha consols were firm at 110. Denver, Rio Grande and Western firsts were off 1 per cent at 70. Atlantic and Pacific incomes declined 5s to 2512 Northern Pacific firsts were 4 easier at 1035s New-Orleans and Pacific firsts were up 3s at 88, and Fort Worth and Denver firsts rose to 7034@705s.

The Sub-Treasury to-day gained on balance $552,-645, made up by gains of $77,439 currency and $175.206 coin. The day's transactions covered Receipts, $1,443,395; payments, $890,750; currency balance, $6,161,719; coin balance, $116,-674,161.

The general rate for money on call at the Stock Exchange was 2 per cent, but near the close some exceptional loans were made at 3, and the rate was rather harder at 2½ per cent.

The Clearing-House statement to-day was as follows: Exchanges, $126,377,984; balances, $4,965,269.

The United States Treasury at Washington to-day received $529,000 National bank notes for redemption. The customs receipts $233,539.

The incoming European steamers to-day brought some more French gold; as such importations are not in settlement of a trace balance, but made in spite of a loss, as measured by the exchange market, they will have the same effect upon the future of exchange as would the importations of any other merchandise which realized a loss to the importer. The exports of merchandise from this port for the week were $1,470,000 less tham for the week of 1882, and were $350,000 more than for the poor season of 1881. A small demand for the foreign exchanges caused a sharp advance in rates, which for business were easier as follows: Bankers' bills, $4 823 and $48534 for long and short sterling respectively; 5,225 and 5,20 for francs; 945 and 95 for reichmarks; 365 and 40 for guilders.

The London market for British consols was easier, and the prices declined is per cent to 10114. United States bonds also were lower; 4s were off 1-16 at 125 13-16, and 4½s were is lower at 11634. As usual, the quotations for American railways were nothing more than the reflection of the previous day's prices in the none markets, consequently the quotations generally were from is to 3, in laber than nothing more than the reflection of the previous day's prices in the nome markets, consequently the quotations generally were from 4 to 3 higher than were yesterday's. At Paris, French 3 per cents, after a small advance, closed at 77,80, against 77,90 yesterday, and sight exchange on London was off to 25,20 francs to the £.

Father de Smet superintendent writes to the secretary, November 4: "I herewith inclose express company's receipt for bar No, 170, containing 1,049 95-100 onnees gold, the result of clean-up of mill for last balf of October, making a total of 1,798-65-100 onnees for the month. At the mine the outlook remains about the same, no material changes having taken place to speak of. Have stopped work in Golden Gate south header for the present, and will confine the work to opening out in ledge for a chamber, the header being far enough advanced for all purposes now. East crossent, third level, has not developed anything of much value as yet, but I feel hopeful of finding a better quality of ore in there soon. Mill is running along well."

THE PETROLEUM MARKET.

NEW-YORK, Nov. 20. The majority of speculators at the Petroleum Exchanges to-day found disappointment in the course of prices. Instead of a further decline, the market showed a steady movement up from $1 15% to $1 1712. The only really important fluctuation occurred in the last hour. The trading "shorts" who had covered after the early rise renewed their sales after the gain of over 1 cent had been established. The sales by the traders on the "bull" side for a small change of price also were made. Yet the lowest point touched in the reaction was $1 1634, and then, up to the close, the market advanced to $1 1842 $1 181a. A new Porcupine well is looked for to-morrow but, barring a Cherry Grove development, no new well will suffice to prevent a steady and important decline in the production of the Cooper and the Balltown districts. The latest gauge puts the daily output of Balltown at 2,000 barrels, against 3,450 barrels two weeks say, and nearly 6,500 barrels by the gauge of October 5. The market closed strong.

POSTAL TELEGRAPH CHANGES.

The Postal Telegraphh Company has sold all its property and franchises to the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company, which was recently organized unde the laws of this State expressly for this purpose. The deed of conveyance, which was recorded yesterday, states the consideration at $10,408,500. The transfer is merely the fulfilment of a pian, which has been under consideration for some time, for reducing the capital stock of the company and for correcting certain legal irregularities in the organization and conduct of the original company. When the present owners secured control they discovered When the present owners secured control they discovered that the previous management had not always acted in strict conformity with the State laws, and while their counsel were of the opinion that the irregularities were not sufficient to vitiate the company's charter, it was decided to lorganize in the prompany. The conveyance made yesterday to the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company was in accordance with this decision. The new company is owned by the same persons who have recently controlled the former one. There will be some changes in the Board of Directors, probably, but John W. Mackey will be president of the company.

AN ADVANCE IN CHICAGO MARKETS.

LARGE PURCHASES, BUMORS OF BAD WEATHER, AND REPORTS OF HEAVY ORDERS FOR EXPORT. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] CHICAGO. Nov. 20 .- Led by provisions, which were very strong, all sorts of produce to-day advanced. Pork went up 15-225 cents a barrel; lard and ribs 5@10 cents per hundred pounds. This advance was gained in spite of the enormous receipts of hogs-60,000. The pressure which the packers kept upon the market on 'Change in order to affect the price of live hogs at the yards has, it is believed, been removed. The theory is, that going "short" of pork, in order to affect live hogs, has become too expensive, especially as Hutchinson has been gathering in the pork just as fast as the other pack ers have sold it, until now he has, it is believed, over 50,000 barrels for January delivery alone.

To-day the packers who have been selling and selling—as they supposed to the general public, which drops product very soon after it buys it, but really to "Old Hutch"—changed their tactics and became buyers. With Hutchinson still a prominent buyer, and with those who have been selling of late also buyers, pork to-day started up with a whirl and closed at almost the highest points of the day. January closed at $11 90, November at $11 10, December at $11 17½.

Sixty-five thousand hogs in one day is the largest number ever received. If the receipts keep up on any such scale the packers may have their hope realized, and the price may go to 312 cents; but in a fortnight the receipts are likely to fall off slightly. The arrivals are always the heaviest during this mouth, when, besides the natural shipments by the farmers, the agents of the packers are also hurrying hogs forward if possible to produce a glut and weaken the market. The price was 5 cents lower today, the warm weather being against packing. If this latter continues the receipts will fall off or else prices will break off.

Although the principal share of the speculation is now in pork, lard and ribs are keeping abreast of it. Ribs for November closed to-day at 6.30, for January at 6.0212; Lard for November and December at 7.5719, and for January at 7.70. The interest in provisions is increasing cortainly, and there is, locally at any rate, general confidence in them at these prices.

It rained to-day. The belt of bad weather was very narrow; it did not stretch over the grain country so as to affect shipments or loadings at all, but this made no matter. Indeed, when it rains in the 'wheat country, and is pleasant in town, the weather cuts no figure; but when, as to-day, there is wind and water to be seen from the floor of the exchange, the "shorts" are very much depressed; the "bulls" correspondingly clated. Then wheat was affected by the great strongth of provisions and corn. There were very few features to the day's trading in wheat. On the regular board Hobbs was the big buyer of wheat, and the gossips had it that his principal was Comstock, a "bull" operator. On the call board Smith, McCormack & Co. took 400,000 bushels of wheat for December—every bushel of this option which was offered. Hobbs's purchases are supposed to be of "long" wheat, Smith, McCormack & Co.'s of short grain. row; it did not stretch over the grain country so as to was offered. House's partial wheat, Smith, McCormaek & Co.'s of snow "long" wheat, Smith, McCormaek & Co.'s of snow grain.

The receipts of wheat, and of corn too, were smaller than yesterday, and smaller than were anticipated. The fluctuations were within a cent, and the course of the market exactly as it was on Monday. At the opening there was a feeling of weakness, then a pretty sharp decline, and just before the close a very sharp raily. The closing quotations were a full cent above the lowest figures of the day, and about a half cent above the close yesterday.

"There was not so much wheat bought to-day," said a broker, attempting to explain the phenomena of the day, broker, attempting to explain the phenomena of the day.

"There was not so much wheat bought to-day," said a broker, attempting to explain the phenomena of the day, "but there was very little for sale when blids were made. A large share of the orders sent here to-day to buy could not be executed." This of course is always the case, but more than ordinarily the case to-day. The market all the while kept a little ahead of the ideas of buyers. Over 2,000,000 bushels of wheat changed hands on the call, and about 750,000 bushels of corn.

There was a report here in the morning that a large amount of wheat had been taken for export at New-York. Evidently from the tenor of the dispatches received from New-York, the rumor was current that arrangements had been made for the export direct from here of a large amount of the grain. Commission houses here and at Gotham were probably swapping lies. The vessel men said that there were engagements for the shipment of 145,000 bushels of wheat. The "bears," however, declared that this was simply going into the holds of vessels to save storage, and would remain either there or at Buffalo until spring.

Corn advanced a cent a bushel, partly be attase the receipts (439 cars) were smaller than looked for, and partly because word was received from New-York that arrangements had been completed for the shipment of a large quantity. November closed at 49%, December at 48%, May at 51½, Oats were ½ cent higher. On the curb the feeling was a little easier.
